WE NOMINATE

David Donald, a newly established Princetonian and one-time member of the Institute for Advanced Study (1957-58), who has given the Princeton community still another reason to consider itself a "growing center of American historical studies." This week, as Columbia and Princeton help launch the Ivy League football season and as Donald celebrates his 40th birthday, this native Mississippian and newcomer to the University's Department of History has literally won paeans of praise for what could well be one of the most provocative biographies of the year and a strong possibility as a Pulitzer Prize volume: "Charles Sumner and the Coming of the Civil War."

On the threshold of this country's commemoration of the Centennial of its War Between The States, the tragic event which will be marked by the appearance of 100's of books of highly varying quality, Donald has brought forward the first of two volumes covering the life of a figure known to generations of American high school students. Sumner, U.S. Senator from Massachusetts between 1851 and 1874, will be remembered, according to one's geographic point of view, as either the "heroic victim," or hateful figure, who was beaten to the floor in the U.S. Senate in 1856 by Representative Preston Brooks of South Carolina.

While many will recall the caning, and possibly Sumner's absence from the Senate for a period of some years following the event, few will know that Donald's controversial subject—more than a century before the Supreme Court's 1954 decision on racial segregation—challenged the reasonableness, and legality, of the principle of separate schools for Negroes in his native Boston. It was Sumner's contention, as reconstructed by Donald, that the separate school with segregated classes "is not an equivalent school." During and after the conflict Sumner, Donald reports, was to be the leading advocate of the immediate granting of Negro suffrage.

The publication of the Sumner study, recommended wholeheartedly by one New York critic "to the historical specialist and general reader alike," is another high-water mark in Donald's development as a front-rank historian at an extremely early age. Elevated at 37 to a full professorship in Columbia University, Donald is only recently back from Oxford University where he served for a year as Harmsworth Professor of American History, a post of distinction held in years past by a handful of eminent Princetonians—and, most recently, by Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker.

Born in Goodman, Miss., a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Millsaps College (Miss.) with the Class of 1941, Donald combined advanced degrees with teaching at the University of Illinois and joined the Columbia Faculty in 1947. Among his outside assignments during his 12 Columbia years were a visiting professorship at Amherst College and a Fulbright Lectureship in 1953-54 at the University College of North Wales. He first won literary attention with the appearance in 1948 of his "Lincoln's Herndon" and, subsequently, with several Donald-edited volumes, including "Divided We Fought: A Pictorial History of the Civil War."

For adhering to standards that prompted a New York Times reviewer to describe him as "one of the most perceptive, original and literate of American historians"; for his contributions in an area of American history too frequently beclouded by sectional points of view; for effectively combining teaching and scholarship; he is Town Topics' nominee for

CANTEEN DEFERRED
School Board Questions Rules.
Princeton's teen-agers, eager to begin the season of Teen Canteen dances, were told Tuesday night by the Borough Board of Education that the Board is deferring action on permission to use Borough school buildings until the four agencies sponsoring the Canteen can give absolute assurance that rules will be enforced.
Members of the Board will meet shortly with representatives of the Princeton High School PTA, the YMCA and the Princeton Jaycees—sponsoring agencies of the Canteen—to discuss methods of enforcing existing rules and possibly to plan stricter regulations.

Graham Rohrer of the Board said that school officials had found beer cans and liquor bottles on school premises following Canteen dances, and that, on visits to dances at various times, he had seen guests who "had no business being there." He referred specifically to a soldier
from Fort Dix.

According to Canteen by-laws, no one may attend a dance without a membership card, and no one may receive a membership card who has been out of high school for more than one year.

"Violations Are Clear." In a statement which will be sent to the presidents of the sponsoring agencies, the Board expresses its concern "because rules of the Canteen and the provisions for their enforcement have, on several occasions, clearly been violated." The Board emphasizes its connection with the Canteen is solely that of authorizing use of

—UPSON DOWNS

Chilly, sometimes damp mornings are a mark of early fall, and already the thermometer is making pre-dawn excursions below 50. A warming trend follows, however, and the long-range prediction of mid-October is for daily averages several degrees above normal.

More wet than dry is the none too satisfactory forecast for the next few weeks.
Rain Thursday and again over weekend is in the picture.
Precipitation, too, is likely to be above normal for the next few weeks.

public property, but feels a deep responsibility to the community for the welfare of the student people who attend the functions."

"The safety of the young people who attend, and the atmosphere of these functions is our real concern," said Mr. Rohrer. "Princeton needs a Canteen, and nobody wants to eliminate it. The problem is to recognize that there is a problem, and to go about solving it."

Four members of the Teen Canteen were present at the meeting. Linda Salikin, president of the organization, said that rumors of "blue jeans and leather jackets" were undressed, and that the Canteen officers expected strictly the dress rules in the by-laws.

John Egan, chairman of the adult sponsors board, said that dress and membership rules were enforced, that lavatories were patrolled to make sure that no one smoked, and that guests were not allowed to return to a Canteen dance once they had left. This rule was adopted to keep guests from going out for a drink from a forbidden bottle and then returning to the dance.

"We want to help; we don't want to be holding back," said
Dr. Jeremiah Finch of the School Board, "but something more specific must be worked out—all you need is just one bad incident, and then all of us would be blamed by the whole community."

"We've Begun a Good Year."
In his report to the Board, superintendent Chester R. Stroup said that, following the successful curriculum studies in math and science, the School Board would begin this year to re-study the high school English curriculum.
Eventually the study will also incorporate grades seven and eight.
Mrs. Sidney Ratner, 11 Cleveland Lane, on leave this year from the English department at New York University, will serve as consultant, and members of the English department at Princeton will also take part.

Dr. Stroup also said that the high school science curriculum and the senior and sophomore courses would be explored and that such subjects as microchemistry might be introduced for students with the proper aptitudes. He said that providing opportunities for exceptional boys and girls might turn out to be a costly matter, for which the Board should be prepared.

The Borough's administrative staff has begun studying ways in which children's study habits
can be improved. Dr. Stroup said. He mentioned the possibility of extending such studies as far down in the academic scale
as the third grade.

"More important than curriculum, even," commented Dr.
Finch, "It's the most important thing of all: how to lead children along to make them want to learn."

No Flyers Home. No more promotional materials will be sent home with Borough school children unless the materials have a definite bearing on school-sponsored functions. The Board adopted a resolution setting up this policy, and pointing out that it referred to announcements from such groups as the YMCA, YWCA, churches, camps, ballet classes,
music schools and so on.

TOPICS Of the Town

RESIDENTS SUE

To Restrain Seminary. Six families whose properties are affected by Princeton Seminary's proposed "secondary campus" on The Great Road have filed suit in Superior Court to keep the Seminary from building its housing project.

The plaintiffs are Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Belford, Mr. and Mrs. James Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Woodbridge, Mr. and Mrs. G. Victor Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Aall and Mr. and Mrs. William Bonthron.

Each family has in its property deed a clause specifying that only one-family dwellings shall be built on the land. The land belonging to all six families, and the 92 acres now owned by Princeton Seminary, was once part of the Stony Brook Corporation; however, the restriction does not appear in the Seminary's deed, for reasons which have not been determined.

The Seminary plans to start with a 42-unit project, but eventually would erect between 100 and 150 units. Much of the land lies along Stony Brook and is too swampy to support buildings; therefore, the Seminary has only about 70 acres on which to build.

In order to proceed with its plans, the Seminary requires from the Township Zoning Board a special permit to use the land for "educational" purposes. It also needs a variance to put up the two-story, multiple-family units.

The Seminary purchased the land in June, 1969, from the First Trent National Bank, which had been named trustee under a deed of trust created by Charles Agle. The case will come to court in Trenton on October 14, when the six property owners will apply to have the Seminary enjoined from proceeding until the suit is disposed of. Seymour Montgomery represents the property owners and Minton, Dinsmore and Bohniger of Trenton the Seminary.

OUT—AND IN

At "Battlefield Farm." The State of New Jersey has finally asserted its right to "Battlefield Farm," the 18th century farmhouse south of Mercer Road in Princeton Battlefield Park.

But the white farmhouse will not become a Revolutionary War museum and historic site, as Princeton residents have long expected. Instead it is being used as a residence by staff members of the state's Department of Conservation and Economic Development, according to a spokesman for the department. The house was bought from Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell Smith under the state's "right of eminent domain."

Jack Adams, the state employee now living with his family in the house, will give information to anyone who asks about the historic dwelling, but he is not a caretaker.

"Battlefield Farm" was actually purchased by the state many years ago, but money was not available to develop it as a museum, so the Smiths were allowed to remain. They were told over a year ago that the state was prepared to assert its ownership, and that they would have to leave. The moved out of the house in late August of this year.

The Department of Conservation and Economic Development has been trying for four years to obtain funds from the legislature to develop the house as a museum and caretaker's house, but so far the legislature has not approved the funds. "Battlefield Farm" is the house in which General Hugh Mercer died after the Battle of Princeton in January, 1777.

BRIDGE ACTION DEFERRED

To Give Priority to Bypass. Members of the Borough Council agreed Monday night that action to widen the Harrison Street bridge should be deferred until more precise information concerning the 206-A bypass can be obtained.

The Council made the agreement after unanimously endorsing a joint resolution of the Borough and Township Planning Boards which urged the Council and Township Committee to work to secure a determination of the actual location of the 206-A bypass and to work for the construction of at least two traffic lanes between Route 206 and Route 1 during the fiscal year, 1961.

Council members agreed that until this could be done, action on widening Harrison Street bridge should be deferred. Mayor Raymond F. Male said, "We feel the bypass is indispensable and only a preliminary to work on Harrison Street bridge."

Several Hamilton Avenue residents appeared at the meeting to voice concern that the installation of sidewalks on that street may damage evergreen trees growing there. Borough Engineer Arthur Brokac assured them that care would be exercised in laying sidewalks and that experts would handle all trimming and pruning operations.

The Council also voted to hold public hearings October 11 at 8 P.M. in Borough Hall on proposed amendments to several ordinances governing granting of licenses. One of the amendments would raise the fee on licenses for male dogs from $1 per year to $2. The cost of licenses for female dogs is already $2.

Other amendments would raise fees for licenses to collect garbage and for licenses to operate bowling alleys and motion picture theatres. The Council also approved the applications for four men for licenses to operate taxi cabs.

Because of the absence of Dan D. Coyle, chairman of the Council's police committee, no report was made on the screening of applicants for the two positions of patrolmen open on the police force.

The Council's next regular meeting will be October 11 at 8 p.m. when several changes in traffic ordinances are expected to be discussed. Mayor Male expressed hope that appointments to the police force could be made at this time also.

IT WAS A LONG CHASE. Jersey City's Miss Aracelis, after being chased around the Shopping Center and on Nassau Street, Steve Peter Libitz, 28, of Jersey City, was arrested Monday afternoon by Township Patrolmen Samuel Lai and Michael Kopliner on charges of disorderly conduct and "failure to give a proper account of himself."

Mr. Libitz and an unknown companion came out of Bamberger's at the Shopping Center at 2:30 Monday afternoon, closely followed by two Bamberger's employees who had spotted them in a shoplifting spree. The chase led across the fields in back of the store. During their flight, two stacks of records were dropped and later recovered by Township police.

One of the pair tried to make a phone call in the Shopping Center neighborhood, but was refused. Having shaken his pursuers, Libitz entered a Neuro-Psychiatric Institute here at the back, reconsidered and left the bus. In the meantime, his companion escaped.

Libitz then paid $5 to a driver of a two-tone gray Pontiac to take him to the center of town. Edmund Wells, special officer on duty during school hours at the corner of Valley Road and North Harrison Street, noticed the commotion and reported the car's license number to Township police.

Patrolman Arthur F. Gallant of the Borough police heard the radio alarm on Nassau Street and immediately noticed the Pontiac two cars ahead of him. Libitz was arrested and was scheduled to appear Wednesday evening before Township Magistrate James Hill.

Libitz was sent to Mercer County Jail in Trenton, in default of $1000 bail. Police said that he has a long history of shoplifting, and is wanted in Clifton on a grand larceny charge. He stole $250 worth of records there.

GOAL: $110,000

For Special Gifts, United Fund solicitors will call on $75 solicited prospects for contributions totaling $110,000. It has been announced by the Special Gifts Division for the Princeton United Community Fund.

Frank E. Taplin is chairman of a committee, consisting of James Carey, Mrs. C. DuR. Donaldson, John H. Myer, Peter Boltermer, Albridge Smith III, Hugh D. Wise, Jr., and Tristram Johnson. Under these vice-chairmen are 28 captains and 112 volunteer solicitors, all of whom have participated in 15 divisional training meetings.

So far, four companies have reported their contributions to the United Fund. Aeronautical Research Association reports 96 percent of all employees with an average contribution of $23, and an increase of 35 percent over 1958. Mettler Company reports a 70 percent increase over last year's total.

Dale Processing Supplies Company has a 100 percent record; each employee has contributed on the basis of "One Hour's Pay Per Month." At Onyx Research Corporation, all employees have made contributions for the second consecutive year. All these firms will receive the Special Plaque Award for 1960.

 She'd Rather Fry. Christopher Fry's lyrical verse comedy, "The Lady's Not for Burning," will launch the first season of McCart Theatre's new Center for the Performing Arts. The production, directed by Richard Easton, will open next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. and there will be subsequent performances on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 and on Saturday at 2:30.

McCart's resident company, formed from the membership of the Association of Producing Artists, follows a "no-star system" policy and actors who appear in a leading role one week may have a walk-on the next week. In the Fry comedy, Eve Roberts will play the role of Jonnet Jourdemayne, the "witch," and John Dodson will be seen as Mendip, a soldier of fortune. Both are appearing in the APA repertory performances of "Man and Superman" and "Anatol" now at McCart through Saturday.

"The Lady's Not for Burning" is the first production to employ the most portable apron stage which Hugh Hardy has designed for McCart. The apron projects six feet into the auditorium and thereby serves to bring audience and actors into closer contact.

FESTIVAL OF SONG RETURNS
 To Benefit United Fund. More than 300 Princeton singers, ranging from members of the Princeton Theological Seminary Choir to the Tigertones, will appear on the stage of McCart in the second annual United Festival Song to be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, October 17 and 18 at 8:15 p.m. Herbert W. Hobler is the producer again this year. The 1960 production will include some new features. Frank Jammy and Bert Sannett, folk singers with guitar and banjo, will make their debut in the Festival. There will also be a string quartet, which will appear with the Princeton High School Choir, and a new group called the Bejays, formed by the Rev. B. J. Anderson.

Other groups are the Westminster Choir, the Columbus Boy-Choir, the Seminary Choir, the Princeton University Glee Club, the Nassoons, the Tigertones, the Opposite Sexette and the Palmer Squares. Jean-Pierre Meyer will serve as master of ceremonies and Fred M. Blaicher, president of the United Community Fund, will appear briefly in the Fund's behalf.

Tickets, at $1.50 general admission, may be purchased at the Princeton University Store, McCart Theatre and Hinkson's.

HOLLOWAY DUE HERE
 "Get Me to McCart on an Time." Stanley Holloway, accustomed to stopping the show whenever he winds up a number, will try his little bit of luck Monday when he steps on the McCart stage at 8:30 p.m. under the auspices of C-K Productions. Following his Princeton engagement, Holloway will take his "Laughs and Other Events" to New York for an October 10th opening.

In his new show, Holloway plans to use some "My Fair Lady" material, and authors Lerner and Loewe are enthusiastic about this idea. However, Herman Levin, producer of the hit musical, is not, and has planned to sue if any "Fair Lady" songs turn up in "Laughs and Other Events."

In addition to the Lerner-Loewe material—which Holloway apparently will use, regardless—the comedian will present songs from Gilbert and Sullivan, and Jerome Kern and certain excerpts will be accompanied on two pianos by Richmond Gale and Arthur Siegel.

JAZZ SHOWOFF?
 Brubeck Scheduled. Dave Brubeck, described as "the man responsible for the birth of a new jazz age" will bring his music to Princeton Saturday. He will play in Alexander Hall at 8:30, over a newly-installed microphone pick-up system.

Brubeck is making a special trip from Chicago for this single concert. He will be accompanied by his quartet, including Paul Desmond, who has been called —Continued on Page 6

"FOLLOW THE NORTH STAR"
Travel Film to be Shown. "Follow the North Star," product of two expeditions to Alaska, the Arctic Basin and the North Pole, will be shown Tuesday in McCarter Theatre as the first presentation in the Princeton Kiwanis Club's Travel-Adventure Film Series.

Lowell Thomas, Jr. will return to Princeton from his new home in Anchorage, Alaska, to present the film and provide the narration. Parts of "North Star" have been shown on television and the showing won for the film the Christopher Award. The McCarter showing is the first time the color film has been screened publicly.

Highlights of "Follow the North Star" include: of Kodiak bear fishing for salmon, an Eskimo walrus hunt with harpoons, the birth of an iceberg, a forced landing in the shadow of Mt. McKinley and the perilous journey of a naval runway through the polar pack ice.

THE PLAYHOUSE

"Under Ten Flags" (September 28-October 1) is a taut naval drama, based on the World War I escapades of a German submarine. Fact matter that work more than 20 British and Allied vessels before being sent to the bottom herself. Van Heflin plays the sympathetic German captain who likes to put all the passengers in lifeboats before disposing of ships) with appropriate stolidity. Others in the cast are Charles Laughlin, Mylene Demongest and John Ericson.

Laughlin is the British admiral charged with the task of eliminating the raider, and he seems a bit confused as to whether he's really a British admiral or whether he's Charles Laughlin and some nasty young man has asked him to pretend to be a British admiral. Ericson, the young Nazi-trained lieutenant on Heflin's ship, criticizes his captain's humanity and thinks things would go more efficiently if Heflin would torpedo the ships first, then worry about the passengers. Julie Demongest is a lovely French girl who is attracted by Ericson's virility but repelled by his coldness.

It's that kind of picture a lot of familiar characters, competently acted and directed, dashing around wardrooms and the high seas. Granted, an amiable German is a bit unusual in a World War II picture, but "The Young Lions" put this type in the "acceptable" file a couple of years ago. "Under Ten Flags" has nothing very profound to say and as a result it's an exciting, if slight, production. Its squeaky peaks when Alex Nicol, a British Intelligence Officer who resembles a German naval officer, boldly enters Nazi headquarters and walks off with a vital code.

All the Young Men (October 2-4), a commendable as it is in intent, turns out to be a nicely acted but unoriginal product of Hollywood's Department of War Pictures. Racial Tolerance or There's No Room For Jim-Crow-

Players Plans

Community Players, apparently undaunted by their decision to abandon The Playmill as a losing proposition, have launched themselves into the fall season with plans for a community benefit production in McCarter Theatre on December 37, and for two informal groups devoted to the theatre.

A playreading group under the direction of Henry Ross and Helen Van Zandt will hold its first meeting this Sunday at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Francis Colley, 232 Russell Road. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend, and to bring along the text of a favorite quarrel scene and a favorite love scene.

Macchi Siletti of Stella Adler's Studio, will return to Princeton as the director of an actor's workshop which will meet one evening a week. Additional information on the workshop may be obtained from Mrs. Paul Fussell at WA 1-8361. Those who would like to join the players may call Mrs. Eyrone Keene, WA-14074.

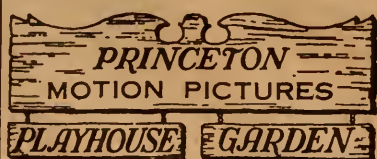

In Foxholes Division Sidney Poitier and Alan Ladd are the stars and the supporting cast includes Ingomar Johanson, James Barran, Paul Richards and Mort Sahl. Sahl's chief appearance occurs when he climbs out of a foxhole and delivers a monologue; you sort of wonder who he's going to follow him until you realize it's Mao Tse-Tung.

Well, what we have is Poitier, the only colored man in the outfit, who is put in charge of a group holding a key ridge for the arrival of reinforcements. His command is threatened by Richards, a big, Southern, and Ladd, a rebellious ex-servant. There's a lot of tension en route but things work out happily through means that will surprise no one. We are in sympathy with films pleading for cooperation between the races, but we wonder if the cause is really helped by melodramatic stories with easy solutions and happy endings. Poitier turns in the type of performance to be expected from Hollywood's only important Negro actor and Ladd clenches

IT'S NEW To Us

PRESENTS FROM FLORENCE
For Bar and Hearth. The artisans of Florence have combined in a splendid marriage the smoothness of pale green glass and the roughness of woven wood to create a group of accessory pieces for any modern home, and for the den or rumpus room of any traditional home. Available now at the Gourmet.

All the glass pieces except the martini pitcher and the wine carafe, are plain pale green glass wrapped with wide, woven strips of dark brown chestnut wood, reinforced where needed with leather and brass studs. A wine bottle, for example (must hold almost half a gallon) has a complete wrapping of chestnut and leather, with a beaten brass cover for the cork in the top.

The handle is leather. A demijohn, a giant of a thing which is certainly destined for somebody's hearth, is also wrapped from head to toe with the rich brown wood. Prices are $16.50 and $17.50.

Highball, double old-fashioned and endless cocktails have jackets of the woven wood. A small ice-club or commode-size nut dish, whichever you want to call it,
also have a woven jacket. (This utensil is about five inches across and five inches deep.)

The wine jug is clear green, unwrapped, but protected by loops of dull brass and a leather-wrapped handle. The martini pitcher is made like a tea-kettle with spout, leather-wrapped handle and fat body.

Its contents are kept cold by the ice in a glass pouch which fits inside—you know the kind.
And last, in this memorable collection, is a tall woven chestnut wastebasket shaped like a bongo drum, with giant rope loops for handles and giant leather patches to hold handle to basket. Worth re-doing the den just to find a place for it.

Also imported, but this time
from Chatham, New Jersey is a gently grey collection of ovenware, incorporating cranberry molds, shirred egg dishes, covered casseroles in different sizes, and three pitchers, the largest of which is $5.95, to give you an idea of the price range. Over the pale green the designer has

From the Pantry

If you like to eat you may enlarge the scope of your hob-bys by visiting the home department of Princeton Gourmet.

Begin with an extraordinary shuck peanut nuke without any added oil. It looks just like a peanut fresh from the shell, but it's nice and salty, dry as a cracker and very good to eat between sips.

Try a Back Oliver biscuit.
Invented by the Dr. Oliver whose bewigged profile is on every biscuit. Wafers are as dry as sherry and would go very well with a glass of
There is also a wheaten malt biscuit from the same mill,
and a nutty coconut-nutmeal
one from a different firm. All English.

Brine wafers come in sweet (sesame seeds, brown sugar) or cracking hot (peppers, apples, goodness knows what all),
both the size of a quarter.

Cooks will try broccoli soup
by Chlois Suzanne (parmentier of the watercress romaine and mushroom soup); the Jarred
miso peas and the Valgren Irish nutmeg (Irish) stew.
Enough variety to suit you?

sketched an apple, a pear, a bunch of grapes and a pineapple,
all in the nearest whiter of color,
all outlined with pale brown.

Royal Holland has taken those famous curving pewter pitchers and made all the curves into angles so that the once curving line from lip to end of handle is now an angular line. Teak has been worked into the handles to protect you if you put something hot into the pitcher.

It's a handsome collection, an the masculine side, to match the femininity of the earlier design.
There's a big martini pitcher in this group, by the way, besides the four descending sizes that are big enough, but not scaled to a martini.

Hotray squeezes itself into one corner of an oval walnut tray to leave room for the glasses, if you're serving hot today, or the cups if it's coffee. The hot bit is about six inches square, off in a corner of the tray, and just the right size for a pot of hot coffee.

In the linen department, Gourmet has foam-backed plastic mats that look just like heavy linen or jute, in lemon gold, warm rust or beige. Wipe 'em off. $1 each.
Real linen appears in new towels,
pot-holders and aprons decorated for fall with corn, oak leaves and the like. Vera makes an autumn place-mat-napkin set in deep natural linen with horizontal zinnias lying in a row (blue and purple, rust and orange, grey and wine).

11. Wrangle, friend of 18th Century Boulevard, State Road, is one of the few designers who can make you want to spend $45 for a simple tweed skirt. The one we saw is black and white tweed, slightly flared, with a deep full-length inverted pleat on each hip. The pleat is banded along each knife edge with a half inch wide white pleated waist. A similar skirt with knife pleats all around, has a wide fringed ash belt.

With either skirt you wear a brilliant orange-red wool jacket, lined with white silk, cut to disguise with both collar and button, and designed with sleeves that strike just above the wrist bone. The jacket hangs straight and short.

It also delivers a blue-grey wool princess dress with slight waist gathers concealed in front only by a straight three-inch pleat. It has a cool neckline and elegant sleeves. A sheer wool two-piece dress has a straight skirt with six inches of charcoal jersey at the top covered by the overhang of a straight blouse that has a narrow insertion of the same charcoal jersey below the round neck. Color is taupe.

"Piddisticks" is the name Wrangle gives to a silk print (all colors) for the 18th century. It is brown and grey, yellow and grey and red and grey, with blocks of color arranged freely over some black ink scribbles that look like the penmanship exercises you use in do in school. It has been used for a shirt and for a dress with a wide scarf that could be a hand or a cut. Like all 11 Wrangle dresses at 18th Century, this is one-of-a-kind. Sizes are in the 8-16 range.

Robert Powell Johns has things like a $195 pin check skirt in black and white, and a custom-made skirt that comes to about $40. Colors in this custom collection are "Williamsburg" shades of steel blue-green, greyed red, and so on. He matches them all up in silk blouses, sweaters that look like hand-knit cardigans and are NOT bulky, in case you don't want to look like a woolly bear.

18th Century's newest excitement is Cosmetics Bloemher, a family of six creams, all of which incorporate a plianton which exists only in some thermal springs in France. Oh, for goodness' sake.

Well, at any rate, these creams have some very devoted users, Plankton or not. They come in dry or oily skin varieties, and among their number you'll find night creams, a skin lotion, a tauter, a day cream and a hand-cream, all in tubes. —Continued from Page 6—his teeth like a man who's been doing it all his life.

Let's Make Love (October 5-11), as intriguing an invitation as the Playhouse has to be offering this year, is the title of the new Marilyn Monroe showcase. In CinemaScope and color, the Jerry Wald film is a silly bodice-ripper which shows scars from the major re-write job it had after Gregory Peck walked out the set and Yves Montand had to be substituted in the male lead. Miss Monroe, nonetheless, is still the "blond" most appealing blond and while her comic talents are not as much in evidence as they might be, her rendition early in the film of "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" will put you on her side for the rest of the evening.

Montand, a wealthy French playboy, hears that he is going to be satirized in an off-broadway comedy and drops around to a rehearsal to see what it's all about. Immediately smitten by Mrs. Miller, he conceals his identity and is signed to play himself in the show. For purposes of plot Montand is put forth as a rather talentless slob, although in real life he is France's top all-around entertainer, a sort of wine-district Sinatra. This scriptwriter's folly makes his presence in the film a little unnecessary since he's not given a chance to use his impressive abilities. Some of the pros hired to teach him show business are entertaining in the kind of "cameo" appearances that have destroyed the believability of better pictures than this one.

THE GARDEN

The World — He Goodsonna (September 29 - October 11) is a fine film rendering of Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" by the Comedie Francaise. It's the first motion picture ever made by that excellent group, which is the top repository company in one of the only nations on earth that has found it necessary to socialize laughter. The picture is in Color and English titles translate the French dialogue.

Louis Seigner is properly foolish in the role of the gentleman himself, a newly rich individual addicted to the mannerisms of the upper class. His Henry plugs the elderly academicien who is charged with teaching him to speak good like a gentleman about—Is Georges Chamarat, an amusing man. Others in the cast are Jean Meyer, Jacques Chiron, Robert Manuel, Jean Fiat, Michelle Daudet and Marie Saboureau. Merely directed with obvious affection for Moliere's satirical line. Recommended.

Lady Chatterley's Lover (October 3-8) is a shoddy little French product that capitalizes on the reputation, if not the competence, of the D. H. Lawrence novel. Lawrence's book, whatever your view of its literary merit, is at least a well-written and honest expression of the author's belief in self-fulfillment through the senses. This is a badly written and embarrassingly neared bit of minutiae that resembles the novel only in plot. In case you've forgotten, that concerns a paralyzed and impotent English lord, his frustrated wife and a handsome gamekeeper who does what he can for the poor girl.

Even thrill-seekers won't find this much of a buy, the censorship troubles the film had on its release in 1957 were concerned with its overall moral stance, rather than with any racy individual scenes. Danielle Darrieux is pretty in the pivotal role.

date, and second section of some language courses have been created. To accommodate the demand, there are vacancies in the following courses: The Civil War, Plato, French Literature, Golf, and Nature in Princeton. The two open lecture series are limited only by the size of the high school auditorium, and single admission tickets are available $1 per person.

Dr. Frederick H. Harbison, professor of economics and director of the Industrial Relations Section of Princeton University, will speak next Thursday, October 8, on Nigeria. The lecture is part of a series of "The African Challenge." Dr. Harbison will cover events taking place in Nigeria following the achievement of independence October 1.

The art and archeology lecture series will be opened by Dr. R. B. Y. Scott, who will speak this month. Next, Professor of religion at Princeton University, he is an Old Testament Scholar and an ordained minister of the United Church of Canada. His latest book deals with the Dead Sea scrolls, and is titled "Essays from the Judean Caesars."

THREE FINED

In Traffic Court, Mrs. Alice Lowry, 59, of 1 Evelyn Place, had her driver's license revoked for six months and was ordered by Magistrate Theodore T. Tans, Jr. to pay fines of $15 each for failing to obey an officer's signal and refusing to show her driver's license. Mrs. Lowry, who pleaded guilty, must have a reexamination before her license will be restored.

In other cases, Genesis P. Pinelli, 21, of 458 N. Harrison Street, was fined $20 for careless driving, and Joseph Sierra, 17, of 315 Witherspoon Street, $15, for driving with inoperative stop lights. They, too, pleaded guilty.

ADULT PROGRAM ENLARGED
With New Classes at YMCA. The YMCA this week announced an enlarged adult program for the coming year. Registrations for youth and adults will be accepted at the YMCA Saturday, October 1, through Friday, October 7.

The fall adult program will be highlighted by classes in gardening and landscape, photography, ceramics, oil painting, family finances and horseback riding. A seminar on child development will also be offered in conjunction with the Child Guidance Center of Mercer County. Adult classes will run ten weeks ending in December.

The YM-YW duplicate bridge group, the Mr. and Mrs. Club, the Y's Men's Club, the Formosa Club and the Adult Radio Club will also meet regularly. Those from the community experienced in their respective fields will teach the adult courses. Adults interested in further information concerning the fall program may contact the YMCA office.

LEAGUE TO MEET

Will Form Study Groups. Two study groups on local government are planned by the League of Women Voters, which will meet next Wednesday evening at 8:15 at the home of Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb, 83 Random Road.

One group will study the Borough's master plan, continuing its planning study from last

Roosevelt to Speak

Congressman James Roosevelt will make Princeton his first stop when he tours New Jersey Sunday.

"Breakfast with James Roosevelt" at 9:30 at the Nassau Inn is being sponsored by the Princeton Democratic Club. Those wishing to attend the event should contact ticket chairman Simeon Moss of 435 Walnut Lane.

Mayor Raymond F. Male will welcome the California Representative to Princeton. Invited guests include Governor and Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, Congressman Frank Thompson, Jr., candidate for re-election from the Fourth District, and Thora Lord, candidate for the U.S. Senate.

year. The second will review the consolidation referendum.

DESSERT—BRIDGE PLANNED

By Women's Republican Club. The Women's Republican Club will meet for dessert and bridge at the home of Mrs. Roland Ely, 144 Constitution Drive, Tuesday at 1.

The price per table is $10, with reservations to be made through Mrs. Robert Sullivan, 400 Nassau Street.

ANNUAL DINNER PLANNED

By Rocky Hill Fire Dept. The

Rocky Hill Fire Department will hold its annual roast beef dinner Saturday, October 8, in First Reformed Church, Rocky Hill. The event will benefit the fire department's upkeep and maintenance fund.

First seating will be at 4:30 P.M. Feeding will continue until 8. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

STEPHENS SENTENCED

For Three to Five Years. Turner A. Stephens Jr., of 37 Leigh Avenue, who was arrested last April on four counts of breaking entering and larceny, was sentenced in Mercer County Court last Thursday. The three-to-five year terms, given on each of the charges, will run concurrently. Stephens is in the State Penitentiary in Trenton.

Report from THE MAYOR

Working Together: In June, as the Mayor was leaving town for a vacation trip which took our family more than 8,000 miles from coast to coast, the last official bit of business was the designation of Dr. William MacCalmont as chairman of a hoped-for community-wide celebration of US week in Princeton. Upon our return, we found the most flourishing and enterprising committee that any town could have mustered.

As the weeks have gone by, literally hundreds of Princetonians have been working and planning with great imagination a series of events that will involve the participation of nearly every individual and organization in the community. As the group unfolds its story, even the United Nations organization itself will recognize that a large group of dedicated citizens, working together to promote understanding and good will among peoples the world over, have given Princeton something of which we can be proud.

An Recours: Je fais appel aux familles de langue française de Princeton qui voudraient bien ouvrir leurs portes aux délégués et aux employés de l'O.N.U. Ces visites seraient courtes et la première aurait lieu le week-end du 22 Octobre, pendant le quinzième anniversaire des Nations Unies.

Accueillir ces visiteurs, dont plusieurs représentent les nouvelles nations africaines, offrira aux habitants de Princeton une nouvelle opportunité d'avancer le progrès de la compréhension et de la paix internationale. Si vous pouvez vous prêter à ce programme, vous êtes priés d'appeler Mme. R.F. Stale à Walnut 4-2280. Merci.

A Joint Meeting: Last week's joint meeting of Borough and Township Planning Boards was a brief but significant one. There was a meeting of the minds that led to prompt action on a resolution urging the Borough Council and Township Committee to press strongly for the long-sought by-pass from Route 206 to Route 1. At its special meeting on Monday, the Council took formal action to accept the planning board's resolution enthusiastically and Council looks forward to taking positive action in the immediate future. The two mayors will probably draft a resolution for action by each governing body; and it is hoped that individuals and groups in the Princeton community and beyond our immediate jurisdiction will get together in planning a massive effort to persuade the state to move in the coming budget year.

"Till It To The Mayor!" The regular weekly open house sessions will be held on Thursday, September 29, and Thursday, October 6, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Last week's session brought some constructive suggestions that will find their way into ordinance amendments and other Borough practice during the next few weeks. Some visitors returned to the meeting of Mayor and Council on Monday in order to present their views directly to the Council and to key Borough staff.

United Funds: Each year the needs of our local health, welfare and recreational agencies grow with a growing community. The United Fund goal and giving must grow to keep pace if these vital services are to be strengthened. Let us all work extra hard to prove again that Princeton is a town with a heart.

by Township Detective Frederick Porter, who found stolen goods in his car valued at $250. Stephens admitted to three other robberies in Princeton dating back to January.

On May 27, he pleaded "no defense" when brought to trial. He was released on bail during the summer.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET
In Township. A meeting which is not a special meeting, but merely an extension of a lengthy meeting held two weeks ago, will be held this Thursday night by the Township Board of Education at 8 p.m. in Valley Road School.

Board members will hear a report prepared by Superintendent William Purcell on the population crisis in the Township schools. In addition, the Board will discuss grade placements.

"If we build at Community Gardens the kind of building we are thinking of, it will be full as soon as it's built," Dr. Purcell says. "We don't want a new school so full in 1962, when it's finished, that we have to build a new one right away."

There are 35 more kindergartners in the Township schools than the April kindergarten survey predicted, according to Dr. Purcell. Two new sessions had to be formed to accommodate these unexpected children, and teachers and classroom space had to be found for them.

A April survey was made so late in the school year, Dr. Purcell says, it was thought to be as accurate as possible. So growth factor was added, and the additional children came as a rude surprise.

$1000 VANISHES

In Bogus Stock Transaction. A loss of $5,000 in a stock swindle has been reported to Borough Police by Salvatore LaPlace, 76½ Linden Lane.

Held in $3,000 bail to await Grand Jury action is Stanley Pelz, an East Orange resident who was manager of Sunny Hunny, a small eating establishment which specialized in fried chicken during its brief regime at 20 Nassau Street. It closed about a month ago.

According to police, Pelz approached Mr. LaPlace with an offer to sell him an interest in Jersey Corporate Advisors, a firm dealing in real estate in Flemington and Hunterdon County of which he claimed to be a member. An interest in the Sunny Hunny Company was also reportedly part of the offer.

Police said that Mr. LaPlace paid Pelz $5,000 under terms of their agreement, but that no stock was delivered. Pelz also faces court action for debts incurred while operating the Sunny Hunny store here.

Topics Of The Town

The two Republican candidates for Borough Council, Dr. E. W. Godfrey and Dr. A. A. Austin, have taken issue with the Democratic stand on widening the Harrison Street bridge. In a statement issued this week, the two men declared, "We are delighted to learn that our Democratic friends have come out in favor of the construction of a 206-A by-pass as the solution to Princeton's through-truck traffic problem. However, their position on the use of Harrison Street is not quite clear in view of their recent blanket endorsement of the University's position on this matter.

"Is Harrison Street to be used as an alternate route to the present one?" Pushing the problem down Nassau solves what?

"Harrison Street is not at all adequate for the purpose. It runs through a predominantly residential section. It is too narrow. And it ends on the northeast side of town in a maze of turns and crossroads, including a final sharp right-hand turn onto 206. This makes the run for trucks, local traffic and pedestrians extremely hazardous.

"Widening the bridge at one end of this bottleneck street is not good planning. We would ask if our opponents have thought this through. Let us make our position clear: 206-A, yes! Harrison Street, no!"

Nations Week must submit them to Mrs. Hutchinson Fairman, 103 Mt. Lucas Road, at Friday for inclusion in the UN brochure, according to an announcement made this week by the Princeton Citizens' Committee for United Nations Week.

After October 17, UN literature, teachers' kits for grades one through 12, posters and similar materials will be available at the Palmer Square East office of the Committee for Commerce. K.Y. Fung of the Princeton Public Library staff has also agreed to help organizations in planning the UN observances.

Contributions for the Committee will be sent to Paul of the First National Bank, Princeton.

RECEPTION PLANNED

By Borough E.T.A. The annual fall reception of the Princeton Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will be held at the Nassau Street School next Tuesday at 8 P.M. and the following Tuesday, October 11, at Witherpspoon School at the same hour.

Mrs. Dorothea Lammis, principal of Nassau Street, Howard E. Waxwood Jr. principal of Witherpspoon, and Chester Stroup, superintendent of schools, will greet parents and invite them to classrooms to meet the teachers. Refreshments will be served.

MARRIAGE COURSE PLANNED

By Parenthood Group and "Y" "Education for Marriage," the course offered last year by the Planned Parenthood Committee and the YWCA will be given again this year. The first of four sessions will be held on Tuesday, October 11, at the "Y" on Avalon Place at 8:15 p.m. Registration is $2 per person, and may be made by mail to the Planned Parenthood office, 180 Nassau; the "Y," or at the door on October 11.

Mrs. Hazel Froescher, marriage counselor, will discuss the adjustments of early married life at the first meeting. On October 18, Dr. Helen Daniels will speak on the expectations of marriage and on October 25, Dean Ernest Gordon of Princeton University Chapel will speak on character values that build a successful marriage.

At the final session on November 1, Dr. Lillian Tenney and Dr. David Rose will discuss the physical aspects of marriage. At this meeting, a film will be shown and the group will be divided into two question groups, one for men and one for women. Dr. W.J. Beners will moderate.

TO FACE GRAND JURY For Numbers Community. If Donald Fletcher, 26, of 36 Middle Rose Road, Trenton, had paid his traffic tickets on time, he probably would not be awaiting action by a grand jury for possession of number slips.

On Wednesday, with a warrant out for his arrest as a scowfall, Pd. Russell Shangle stopped Fletcher on Clay Street. Fletcher was found to have $4600 in cash and number slips totalling that amount in his possession. He was held under $2000 bail to await jury action and fined $60 to cover two outstanding traffic summonses.

In other criminal cases, William A. Gordon, 69, of 13½ Jackson Street, was sentenced to spend 30 days in the Mercer County Workhouse and placed on one year's probation by Magistrate Theodore T. Tama, Jr. for grabbing the arm of a 12-year old girl on Jackson Street last September 8. For using abusive language, Aaron Craig, 34, of Highway 77, was fined $15.

OFFICE MOVED

By Two Physicians. Two Princeton physicians, Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman and Dr. Peter R. Dallman, have moved their practices office to 163 Nassau Street. Their practice had formerly been conducted across the street at 164 Nassau.

DANCE PLANNED

Raise Scholarship Funds. The Vassar Club of Central New Jersey will hold its sixth annual scholarship ball on Saturday, October 22, from 10 to 2 in Miss Fine's school gymnasium under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frederick S. Gallagher. The affair will commemorate Vassar's Centennial Year and will serve to raise funds for the Club's scholarship.

Serving with Mrs. Gallagher are Mrs. Alfred Azoni, Mrs. Dean W. Meyers, Mrs. Peter Carter, Mrs. James Silver, Mrs. John W. Peacock, Mrs. Robert G. Potter, Mrs. Karl D. Pettit, Jr., Mrs. Richard V. Lindbergh, Mrs. Macdonald Mathey, Mrs. Malcolm Peyton and Mrs. Peter Lauck III.

PRA SPONSORS COURSE

In Hunter Safety. A Hunter Safety Course sponsored by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will hold its first session on Saturday, October 22, at 9 A.M. in the Armory on River Road. Anyone between the ages of 14 and 21 may apply by filling out application blanks available at Borough and Township Police Headquarters.

New Jersey law requires the successful completion of a hunter safety course before a minor can obtain an initial hunting license. Those who complete the classes successfully will receive a certificate and may then buy a license. J.J. Lawson, 38 Marion Road West, accredited National Rifle Association instructor, will give

Why I Plan to Vote REPUBLICAN DEMOCRATIC

By ALAN C. POOLE

By MARVIN H. BERNSTEIN

In the past eight years a new innovation has been introduced into the Administrative Branch whereby the Vice President has participated much more fully in guiding the affairs of the country as well as being kept much better informed on all events taking place. This is a great stride from 15 years ago when the Vice President succeeding the deceased President was not even aware of the development of the first atomic bomb. Therefore in making the decision for the next presidential state we must consider not only who will be President but rather the Presidential-Vice-Presidential state.

Richard Nixon has had the advantage of studying closely the events of the past eight years profiting from the successful actions that were implemented and experiencing from the mistakes that were made. In these eight years Vice President Nixon has grown in stature from a politician (an image unfortunately visualized even today by many people) to an experienced statesman well qualified to take over the running of the country. Backing him up is Henry Cabot Lodge, whose experience and outstanding performances as emissary to the United Nations qualifies him as a leading expert on the international picture.

As Vice President Nixon must be associated with the Administration of the past eight years, although it should be remembered that from the experience he has gained he can logically improve on this Administration. It is only fair to examine and evaluate the course of events which have taken place during that time. To this writer there have been two outstanding achievements.

For the first time in history we have survived a major war without having a postwar depression, and, in spite of tremendous pressure from behind the Iron Curtain we have not incurred any serious losses in the three vital areas—The Middle East, Formosa and West Berlin. These have been held without firing a shot even in Lebanon where it was necessary to send in a task force as a show of strength. It may be argued of course that we failed in Hungary by not sending in troops, but such action might easily have created a world war just as certain as if the Soviet Union were to send armed forces into our backyard. The Cuban situation was admittedly a failure on our part, but I challenge Senator Kennedy in detail any action we could have taken there without alienating the eighteen Latin American countries who are still our friends. To intervene in Laos would be as futile an action as the Korean debacle turned out to be where nothing would be accomplished except the loss of American lives.

On the domestic front the most important issue in that of the economy. It has been necessary from time to time to adjust monetary policies both to prevent runaway booms in the economy and depressions. On balance, however, we have fared well. Never since World War II has the nation suffered the duress of the 1929-32 depression or even the 1937-38 decline in business.

For the past eight years peace with prosperity has existed most of the time, a situation that has previously been non-existent except—Continued on Page 16

I will vote for John Kennedy for President for two reasons.

First I firmly believe that he is a better candidate than Richard Nixon for the most demanding post of executive leadership in the world today. And second the historical record documents impressively the conclusion that the Democratic party despite its internal divisions and reactionary Southern wing is more likely to respond creatively and imaginatively to crisis and tension both domestic and world-wide than is the Republican party.

In judging the relative qualifications of candidates for the Presidency the voter faces perhaps an impossible and unrealistic issue. For the fact is that previous experience has never been a reliable pointer of performance in the White House.

For example in 1932 F.D.R.'s career as Governor of New York and presidential campaigner in 1932 scarcely hinted at the resourceful public policies and qualities of political leadership that came to be hallmarks of the New Deal.

The 1960 election seems to indicate that the Senate has replaced the governors of the nation as the primary training ground of presidential candidates but we have little evidence of the probable influence of senatorial experience on a President. In any case, the unique and immeasurable demands of the modern office of the President have a mysterious way of stimulating Presidents to rise to the peak of their capacities. In the end we have to accept the truism that there is no position in public or private life in American society that "prepares" a man to be President.

Kennedy and Nixon share some characteristics. Both are young men. Both have indicated a flair for skillful organization and orderly administration. With the nation in the grip of the disease of McCarthyism only a few short years ago neither defended democratic principles when they most needed affirmation. But on issues of civil liberties for Negroes both are professional politicians. As voters we do not face the choice of 1952 and 1956 between an ex-governor with some political experience and a military hero with no political experience and a certain contempt for the complexities and inherent unfairness of American political life.

But here the similarities stop. Kennedy has never engaged in the questionable political practices that Nixon revealed in his Congressional campaigns. While Nixon has been limited to more or less ceremonial functions as Vice-President with no participation in running the government Kennedy has been an active leader in developing new legislation especially in the expanding areas of labor-management relations and union practices.

In the latter field he was the moving force in marking out new public policy to meet new problems despite the opposition of many union leaders and organizations. In his proposals for medical care for aged persons Kennedy has sponsored the best with sensible and conservative schemes of making medical insurance part and parcel of the social security system.

In the area of defense policy Kennedy has vigorously attacked the policy of the Republican administration of sacrificing adequate national security to the goal of a balanced budget. In focusing attention on governmental policy to promote economic growth Kennedy has emphasized the creative and constructive function of government in providing an environment favorable to productive enterprise. And in areas of great national need such as improving the status of the poverty-stricken 20 percent of all Americans the rehabilitation of metropolitan cities meeting rising demands for low-cost housing and—Continued on Page 16

Republican

 repel for a very few years since 1929. The consumer's dollar has recovered reasonable protection. After the war from the start of 1943 until the end of 1952 the cost of living advanced 41.8 percent under a Democratic Administration. For the following seven years under a Republican Administration it advanced only 10 percent.

Let us look briefly at the Democratic slate which has promised us "pie in the sky." Senator Kennedy's pronouncements of building a nuclear stockpile in three months that could deter the Russians from waging war is extremely naïve. Any physicist could tell you that such a project would take years. Furthermore both the United States and Russia have nuclear supplies that would make an all-out war mutually fearful for the other nation.

Senator Kennedy has promised higher wages for the lower income groups, but taking the statistics of the past 14 years as an example wouldn't it be better to make $600 a year that might only have a purchasing power of 15000 seven years hence than $600 that would only have a purchasing power of $1000 or perhaps lower.

Rising labor costs have been detrimental to our economy as foreign competition rapidly gains ground. Senator Kennedy has guaranteed more strength for labor unions, while Vice President Nixon stands for firm but fair controls.

Finally experience is essential in crucial times. All I ask the readers to do is to examine the lifetime records of Nixon, Lodge, Kennedy and Johnson. There is no doubt where the greatest experience lies.

Democratic

 getting better schools he has not been afraid to call upon the federal government as the only instrument with enough resources to make some progress in improving human conditions.

Alas! all the recommitments over the question of the religious issue in this campaign there emerges the unhappy political fact that some American voters this November may be moved by religious prejudice to vote against Kennedy. I hope that Americans in 1960 will embrace the constitutional principle that we should not impose a religious test on those seeking to serve in public office.

Nixon himself has reneged that the Republican party does not appeal to voters as much as the Democratic party. As the "Wall Street Journal" has noted (September 18) Nixon is "striving to play down his Republicanism giving inconspicuous billing to the party label. His carefully chosen phrases lend toward the persuasive generalization keeping the question of liberalism vs. conservatism out of focus."

Kennedy on the other hand has been waging an increasingly militant campaign declaring himself more clearly on specific issues. Far more than Nixon his campaign speeches indicate a grasp and mastery of complex problems and a capacity to talk forcefully about them. While Nixon is uttering comfortable generalities about the excellent state of the nation Kennedy talks about using the government's power to enforce civil rights federal regulation of natural resources governmental efforts to accelerate the growth of the economy and new and broader housing and slum clearance programs.

To sum up: the election of the Presidency means of the political imagination and political commitment without which great things cannot be accomplished.

Question of the Week

Question: In view of the unruly demonstrations that have marked the visit of Khrushchev and other foreign dictators to the United Nations in New York, do you feel that UN headquarters should be moved to a more neutral country?

Where asked? Palmer Square

W. Taylor Thom Jr., 272 Snowden Lane, retired professor at Princeton University: I think it would be better if the people in the United States would learn to be more courteous to visitors from abroad even though we may not like them. Under that circumstance, there would be no great need to consider a move.

Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierpont, 1 Hazel Avenue, homeowner: I very definitely do because I don't think we should have the responsibility of protecting such unpopular people with the serious repercussions that would follow their possible assassinations. Also, I don't think we should foot the bill necessary for adequate police protection.

Mrs. Walter L. Wright, 137 Patton Avenue, housewife: I rather think so. We have welcomed in many displaced persons to our shores that it creates a special problem that other countries would not have to the degree it exists here.

Alma Marka, Center Road, graduate student in politics: No. What they should do is to establish a fixed area with definite boundaries near New York wherein all people coming to the United Nations could move with freedom.

Mrs. Joseph Lauricini, residing temporarily in a motor court before moving to Turbine Road, housewife: No, I don't feel it should be moved. But I believe that Khrushchev and other unwanted dignitaries can't expect that we be nice to them when they have done the things they have. In a way, I think these demonstrations have been a good thing. It will make Khrushchev stop and think when he sees that the people's attitude toward him have changed since he was here a year ago.

Mrs. Ihni Myers, 17 Random Road, housewife: Well, it would mean less headaches for the United States, but who would foot the UN bill? I understand this country financially supports most of the UN's activities. What with all the effort that has been made and the building there in New York, it seems a shame to start all over somewhere else. I also don't know if moving would eliminate demonstrations.

Evelyn Meisner, Alexander Road, butcher: Yes, I think so. It would save a lot of trouble for new York. People who live there aren't happy about it, from what I read in the papers. They should move to a country where there are few refugees.

Mrs. John Reid, 26 Westcott Road, housewife: No, I don't think it should be moved. The UN is neutral by itself. And, is there any country really neutral in the world today?

Mrs. Holmes Forsythe, 340 Liberty Place, housewife: No, I don't. I consider the United States to be the strongest nation in the world and I think it's very suitable that we keep the United Nations here. But I do feel that some arrangement should be made so that we wouldn't have the expense of protecting the representatives from all these foreign nations.

Erlich Lye, Westminster Choir College, student in PU's School of Architecture: Yes. For one thing many of the people who have come to this country have run away from Castro and Khrushchev and they're sure to say things against these men when they come to the UN. The meetings could be held without interruptions from the people in a more neutral country. As it stands now, the UN has become a propaganda instrument for both parties.

Mrs. Harland W. Holington Sr., 2 Morven Place, housewife: I wish it had been established in Geneva in the beginning because the League of Nations had been set up there and Geneva is such a neutral city. New York is such a hotbed that it's almost like a holocaust but since it's there now, why move it? I'm just not fashioned enough to oppose change.

Fred Herndon, Greenwood Avenue, Trenton, security courier for Forrestal Research Center: I really don't think so. I believe that the U.S. is a world leader, without a doubt, and to find another country as democratic and independent as the United States would be difficult. Maybe, in place of New York, it should be moved to some remote place, say Oregon, where anybody coming there would have some business with the UN.

Mrs. Lewis W. Hicks, 655 Snowden Lane, housewife: I think New York is the center of the cosmopolitan world and it has the necessary facilities, which very few cities have, to be able to cope with the large number of delegates, staff members, etc. that make up the UN. I feel the demonstrations would go on anywhere, and since the United States is financing a good part of the United Nations, it seems to be the most logical place to have it in spite of all difficulties.

Kenneth R. Wicht, Nassau Estates, audio engineer: The only reason I can think it might be better somewhere else is that New York is so congested with different national elements that when all the heads of government come in, it poses a real problem in providing security. No matter who comes in, there is going to be some vocal element in New York opposed to him. Perhaps in a less populous place there would be a chance for more peaceful deliberation and less chance to make propaganda use of the UN.

Mrs. Sanders Maxwell, 219 Edgermont Road, housewife: No, I feel it should stay in New York because there will be demonstrations no matter where the UN is. The United States is the leading world power and that is where the United Nations should be. I think more harm would be done if the U.S. admitted that it was unable to handle these demonstrations or provide sufficient protection to the various government heads and did not want to host the UN.

IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL

For Township Parents. Two "Back to School" nights for parents of Township pupils have been scheduled for the early weeks of October. Parents of children in kindergarten through sixth grade will gather at their school, at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Parents whose children are in the seventh and eighth grades will meet the following Tuesday, October 11, at the same hour at Valley Road School.

Short business meetings will be held in the all-purpose rooms at Riverdale, Johnson Park and Littlebrook and in the auditorium at Valley Road, followed by classroom meetings in which teachers will outline for parents the program for the academic year.

Mrs. Henry K. Shoemaker, Fairway Drive, is chairman of arrangements for Johnson Park, assisted by Mrs. David Sherr and Mrs. Archibald D. Sheeran, both of Parkside Drive. Mrs. Mary W. Ballard of the Valley Road faculty and Mrs. Blumental of 39 Randall Road will be in charge of Valley Road arrangements.

At Littlebrook, the program will be arranged by Mrs. Neal O'Connor, 79 Marion Road, East and Mrs. N. B. Woodworth, 267 Snowden Lane. Richard Challenor, 45 Knoll Drive, and Mrs. E. W. Lehman, 34 Knoll Drive, are chairmen of the parents' night at Riverdale.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

To Nixon - Lodge Committee. John Lasley, Cherry Valley Road, and Mrs. Charles Jones, Hornor Lane, have been named co-chairmen of the Citizens for Nixon-Lodge. Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Elm Road, and Jerry Weiner of Hopewell, have been chosen chairmen of the membership and activities committee.

Other officers in the group are LeBaron R. Foster, and Gerald Skibbins, co-chairman of the finance committee. Frank Curran and Harry F. Pohlman, chairmen of the headquarters committee. Mrs. John H. Burman, treasurer; Dr. Henry Wolpert, and William Gordon, publicity; and William Sword, Phonathon committee. Membership in the Citizens for Nixon-Lodge Committee is open to all, regardless of party affiliation. Those who are interested in serving may obtain information from Mr. Wolpert, WA 4-5000.

BIRTH LIST

How's Princeton?

To find out what Princeton residents think of their town and its future, the Princeton Jaycees will begin this Thursday to interview a scientifically selected sample of 300 residents.

What does Princeton think about fluoridation, consolidation, the facilities of the library, parking, traffic, housing, taxes? The questions have been framed to give the best possible cross-section of opinion on matters such as these. The results will be made public in about two months.

According to a Jaycee spokesman, the interviews will take about half an hour. The Opinion Research Corporation has drawn up the questions and prepared the list of persons to be interviewed.

1. Princeton, both on September 21.

Other parents of sons were Capt. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, 138 W. Broad Street, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley W. Clark Jr., 15 Robert Street, both on September 22; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schrader, 5 Griggs Road, Cranbury; and Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, 216 Hazelhurst Avenue, Trenton, both on September 24.

MAILBOX

Fashion Note Decried.

To The Editor of Town Topics:
With mingled amusement and incredulity, I read an advertisement in your Classified section last week, comparing the chic and charms of presidential candidates' wives, ending in deathless rhyme, "Don't be Tacky - vote for Jackie."
May I suggest to the character who created that absurd piece of copy and to the organization that paid for publishing it that they have goofed, and badly, both in fact and in principle.

To substantiate my charge that they have erred in fact, I refer the readers to the September 26 issue of "Newsweek," page 53, where there are pictures of both ladies. Judge for yourselves! As for the error in principle: if his wife's style and beauty were a constitutional — or even sensible — requirement for a president, our history would never have included George Washington, Andrew Jackson or Abraham Lincoln (the loved clothes, but let's face it — she was pretty chubby even for those overhewn days.) And oops! I almost forgot FDR.

If the Democrats thought that was a good campaign issue, they are in even worse shape than I thought.
GUY KELLY
(Mrs. T. H. Kelly)

(Editor's Note: For Republican poetry replying to last week's advertisement, see this week's classified section.)

Foiled in the Fall.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Along with falling leaves and football, the third inevitable sign of autumn is upon us. The Princeton Township Committee leaders have begun to publicize their grand plans for the future of Princeton.

As a new resident here three years ago, I was pleased with such conscientiousness on the part of my local government. But the timing is too perfect, the purpose too plain. A local election is about 40 days away. (For example, it is almost certain that another elaborate scheme for Community Gardens will be announced before November 8.)

I wonder how long we are supposed to be fooled by this, for after the election, if previous years are good examples, the ruling majority at Township Hall will shelve these plans for another 12 months.

I feel I have been let down, and let down badly. How long is this to go on?

PEOPLE In The News

The Rev. C. Shelby Rooks of 152 Guyot Avenue has been appointed associate director of the Fund for Theological Education, Inc. Former minister of Lincoln Memorial Congregational Temple in Washington, D.C., the Rev. Mr. Rooks will direct a newly-established Protestant Fellowship Program designed to provide financial aid for outstanding Negro seminary and college students preparing for the ministry. The Rev. Mr. Rooks is a graduate of Virginia State College and of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Miss Gwendolyn Sims, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Yancy L. Sims of 10 Maclean Street, sailed on the S.S. Mauretania for a year's study in Europe. A voice major student at Oberlin College, Ohio, Miss Sims will spend her junior year in the Mozarteum Academy in Salzburg, Austria.

Undergoing training at the U.S. Naval School, Pre-Flight, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., is Aviation Officer Candidate H. Barton Thomas, son of Mrs. Barton Thomas of 162 Mercer Street. A graduate of Harvard College, Mr. Thomas, upon completion of pre-flight, will be assigned to the Base Aviation Officer's School.

END OF THE TRAIL?

Columbia Favored Saturday. Gasoline rationing, food coupons and World War II had ended less than two months ago; Harry Truman was in his second year in the White House; virtually no one had television; and among the nation's first-grades students was a youngster named Don Korn-rumpf, age 6.

It was October, 1945, and a solid Columbia football team studied with veterans returned from military service had just handed Princeton's younger, greener team a 32-7 pasting. It was to be the Lions' last triumph in the series for a decade and a half. Not since a dark, rain-pattered afternoon in 1948 has a Columbia eleven been favored to trim the Tigers. That day on muddy Baker Field, the 14-13 lead which the New Yorkers took into the final period vanished on the wings of a field goal Frank Reichel booted to end a series of three straight defeats pinned on Princeton since the start of the season.

This Saturday, the wheel has finally turned full circle, and the Lions are favored again. Last-past residents most of the time since the Ivy League went formal in 1956, they have begun the tough climb upward and will come into Palmer Stadium bolstered by the belief that the long victory drought in their series with Princeton will be ended by the time the afternoon's activities are over. Game time is 2 o'clock.

Columbia Optimistic. Ever since pre-season practice began, Columbia coach Buff Donelli has been treading a big step forward for his 1960 Ivy entry. One quote attributed to him expresses the opinion that "we honestly feel strong enough to take Harvard," and on another occasion, he has said that "from last to first in one year is a long way, but we might make it."

Off a pre-season scrimmage with Colgate and the opener last Saturday with Brown, Donelli isn't just whistling in the dark. The Lions' first team walked off the field in the Colgate set-off after having outscored the opposition, but Columbia reserves later lost the advantage. Last week, Colgate trounced Cornell 28-8.

A Brown eleven virtually certain of winding up in the cellar was a 37-0 victim of the Lions, and this time it was the Columbia reserves who helped break the game open as the Light Blue jammed 22 points across in the final period. What's more, the New Yorkers were operating with out their top quarterback, Tom Vassell, and with their captain, center Bob McCool, on strictly limited duty.

Expectations are that Vassell, who twisted an ankle in the Colgate scrimmage, will not face Princeton. If this is so, Dick Sakala will launch the plays from Donelli's version of the wing T. He threw a pair of touchdown passes against Brown, with half back Don Savini, the New York ers' primary running threat, scoring twice.

day's 13-8 defeat by a big, slow Rutgers team brought Princetonians face to face with a good deal of grim reality about football prospects for the 1960 season. If one weakness is singled out above the others, it has to be the woefully inadequate passing attack, which in turn hobbled the Tigers' overall offensive efforts. During the course of the afternoon, Princeton threw ten passes and completed one for a gain of 17 yards. One was intercepted—not counted in the statistics. It is the scoring aerial for a two-point conversion which Jack Sullivan tossed to end Henry Large to give the Orange and Black a shortened 8-7 lead.

Mistakes cost the chance to best the Scarlet for the first time in three years. On fullback Bill Tully's 83-yard jaunt down the middle in the third quarter, a hole big as a hole in the wall opened up in the Princeton line and secondary when decoys drew Tiger defenders wide. Tully made it to the end zone in a one-man romp.

After Jack Sullivan had ripped off a scintillating 60-yard dash to return for the touchdown that set up an apparent Princeton victory, inability to control the ball gave the game back to the Scarlet. The tailback's fumble on a high pass from center put Rutgers in possession on the Princeton 33 with seven minutes left.

A fourth and eight situation all but had the visitors stalled out, until another vital defensive lapse allowed them to complete a 21 yard aerial. One Tiger back left his zone open when he came up to stop an assumed running play, and another tried to intercept the ball instead of halting it down.

When the aerial went through his hands into Paul Benke's of Rutgers on the Princeton 15, it was merely a question of whether the Scarlet would win on a field goal or a touchdown. The offense was good enough to go all the way, the TD coming on a one-yard quarterback sneak with 79 seconds left.

Offense Needed. Some good running by Hugh Scott and Jack Sullivan off tackle or around end was largely instrumental in Princeton's ability to pick up 363 yards rushing. But the Tigers never launched a play all afternoon from inside the Rutgers' 40, and that, combined with the total lack of a passing touch, may make them quite punchless for much of the season.

Sadly missing from the offensive pattern these days is an inside threat from the Princeton fullbacks. If the Tigers do not occasionally hammer the middle, as Homer Smith, Hewes Agnew and Fred Riley once did, the opposition can compensate too easily for outside sallies by the tailbacks and wingbacks and contain the Princeton attack as easily as Rutgers did.

So it is that Columbia comes to Palmer Stadium in the totally unfamiliar role of favorite. Working for the Tigers will be Duncovich's admitted difficulty in defending against the single wing, but it will have to be a single wing with teeth in it to make a difference.

Having lost to a Rutgers outfit which theoretically should have been slowed by the coaching transition and process of learning a new attack, the future will be bleak for the Tigers until they can handle a team of even average ability. If Columbia does fulfill its role of favorite this Saturday, a season as bad as 3-6 or even 2-7 may well be ahead.

PIS EDGES PIEDIE

In Second Half Comeback, Fall-overs of the football team of Princeton High, 14-12 victor over Piedie in its opener Saturday, will have only three opportunities to seek the Little Tigers play at home this season. All gridiron activity on Harris Field in 1960 will be concentrated into three consecutive Friday afternoon contests. This week at 2:15 Freshhold will be here.

What a small crowd of 500 saw at Hightstown Saturday could best be described as not one game but two, each one two quarters long. In spite of five fumbles, Peddie won the first truncated contest, 1-0. The Blue and White added to a minus six yards rushing in the first period and four first downs in the first half, tallied nine in the second half, or "second game", to win, 11-0.

Princeton threatened first midway in the opening period. Alan Wood recovered a Peddie fumble, the first of three he was to haul in on the home team 20-yard stripe. A pass, Gil Fisher to quarterback Tom Olsen, carried to the 15. Three plays later, however, the prep school took over, having thrown the Little Tigers back to the 32.

From there, Peddie, with Jim Convery, Bill Curlls, and Brian Barabee doing most of the gaining, started to roll, chalking up

Lawrenceville to Open

Lawrenceville will place its unbeaten string of 14 straight football victories on the line Saturday when it plays host to Blair Academy. The contest will start at 2:30.

The Red and Black, coached by Ken Keuffel, Princeton '48, has gone through its last two seasons undefeated. A Charlie Caldwell disciple the kicked the field goal that beat Pennsylvania for the Tigers in the big 1946 upset. Keuffel runs his team from the single wing.

Unusual interest is developing in the Andover-Lawrenceville game, which will be played on the Larries' gridiron the following Saturday, October 8. The meeting will be the first between the two schools since 1924.

four first downs to carry it within a foot of the goal. On the third play of the second quarter, Convery went over for the six-point. Maurice Shuman's try for the PAT was wide of the mark.

HOWARD GOULD
PHS Fullback

A 14-12 victory over Peddie on Saturday got Princeton High School's football season off on the right foot—a statement that can be taken literally. The foot belongs to Howard Gould, a highly versatile member of Joe Jingo's eleven who did just about everything in the game at Hightstown but sell tickets.

On offense, Gould played fullback and scored the winning touchdown. In a game decided by extra points (14-12), he booted both of them. And in a close affair that could have gone either way until the final whistle, he played a solid game as a defensive tackle, seeing action there about three-fourths of the time that Peddie had the ball.

When PHS went 45 yards in five plays for the winning score, Gould chewed up the first 18 yards blocked for tailback Bob Salter on three carries to the five and then rammed through center into the end zone. Jingo credited him after the game with "his best performance in his three years on the varsity."

Gould's versatility extends beyond the football field. He is a track star in spring. He's an outstanding member of the PHS team in the weight events, with the discus and shot put his specialties.

Howie began his football career at Princeton as a player. The following fall, he played ed fullback on offense and stayed at tackle on defense, assignments he is repeating this season.

The Blue and White got the best kind of psychological lift for the new season in the Peddie victory—the kind that stems only from proven ability to come from behind. Its home opener is set for Friday on Harris Field, and later in the fall, it will defend its Mercer County championship. Expectations that Howard Gould will do much to help make this a successful football season for PHS are extremely well founded.

Sports In Princeton

The Blue and White bounced back. With Bob Salter turning the end and blocked Howard Gould running straight up the middle, the Little Tigers marched to the twenty 20, but the drive fizzled when Olsen fumbled the ball.

Convery Intercepts. Late in the game, PHS got the ball on the Blue and Gold 35 after Wood had recovered a punt fumbled by a Peddie back. Salter and Wood moved the ball to the 16.

Fisher, back to pass, booted the ball off Olsen, and it was picked off on the eight-yard marker on a dead run by Convery, who cut to his left and sped the remaining 52 yards unmolested. It didn't seem to matter that Shuman's second PAT attempt also went awry.

Whatever PHS coach Joe Jingo may have said during half time, it worked in spades. Following the kick-off, the visitors, sticking to the ground, streaked for four straight first downs to carry them to the Peddie seven. Again, it was Gould and Salter, combining for a potent Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside attack, who set up the yardage.

The honor of scoring the first touchdown for PHS in 1960 fell, however, to Fisher who took a buck lateral on the seven and scampered over for the tally. Gould booted the extra point to leave his teammates only five points behind.

For its part, Peddie, unable to get over the bad case of fumbleitis, immediately fumbled again, losing it this time to co-captain Dave Smith near mid-field. From there, Princeton High scored in five plays.

Gould went up the middle like a shot for 38 yards to the 27. In three sweeps, Salter carried to the prep line. Moments later, Gould plunged over with the 13th point, adding the 14th with his second successful conversion.

Peddie continued. Early in the final period, PHS, after limiting Peddie to two plays from scrimmage in the 3rd quarter, both ending in fumbles, kept the pressure on by driving to the Prep School 10-yard line. This time, Peddie held.

Coach Maurice Shuman's eleven tried to come back but failed. A 35 yard clipping penalty, an intercepted pass by Charlie Pemberton, a recovered fumble by Tom Reynolds and an ineffective, last-ditch passing attack proved too much for it to overcome.

Short Notes: Injured PHS co-captain Russ Perone got in for only one play. He fumbled the snapback from center which the ever alert Wood turned into an 11-yard gain.

The PHS passing was ineffectual. The Little Tigers completing only for seven in the first half for a total of nine yards. They scored all their points in the third period without the aid of a single aerial.

The alertness of Dave Smith in the line and particularly that of Allen Wood in the backfield was a deciding factor in preventing Peddie from scoring more than it did.

Freehold, Friday's opponent, was shutout by the Blue and White last year, 12-0.

feat the same opponent administered to them in their opener last year. While not making any predictions, Hun coach Hawley Waterman, starting his fifth year with the Red and Black, inferred that barring injuries, the outcome will be different this year.

Waterman hopes for a reversal not only against Pennington but for an improvement in last season's disappointing 2-3 record. One of Hun's two victims last fall, Solebury, has been dropped, while Perkiomen and Pingry have been added to comprise an expanded eight-game schedule. Newcomer Perkiomen, by the way, will provide the opposition for the Red and Black's first home game the following Saturday, October 8.

"One big, strong line" is the way Waterman describes his forward wall, which boasts returning lettermen in every position with the exception of Earl Howrey at right guard. Veteran Jay Maynell and John Stewart will play the ends. Co-captains Dave Savage and Paul Savage, two-thirds of a brother act, are dedicated to the proposition that no line ball carrier will gain through the tackle position. Brother Pete is center for the line that Waterman says can play "both ways."

Operating out of a split T formation, the Hun backfield is more of a question mark. With aerialists Paul Kadlic and John Ketter gone, Waterman admits to a passing attack that will be

"average." In stressing a strong ground game, Hun will rely on the running talent of co-captain Al Landis, moved from quarterback to fullback, and halfback Gary Grover, who, though only a junior, is a veteran ball carrier for the prep school.

A stroke of good fortune that every coach welcomes is the transfer of a competent player from another school — be it Waterman this year in the name of Bob Kay, who played varsity ball at Blair. Bob will start at right halfback. Quarterback Tim Walsh rounds out the backfield.

To handle the 55-man squad, Waterman has the aid of two more coaches this season. Assisting Waterman, as he did last year, is Squier Ball who is coaching the ends and the linebackers. New this year is Dan Barron, working with the guards and tackles, and John Talbot, backs and linebackers.

The schedule: Oct. 1, Pennington, away; 8, Perkiomen; 11, Germantown Friends, away; 22, Tower Hill; 28, Friends Central; Nov. 4, Pingry, away; 12, George School, away; 18, Delbarton.

BOWLING NOTES

Walker Gordon Tops "B" Loop. Walker Gordon (18) moved a full two games out in front of Edwards Engraving in the "B" League to highlight Princeton bowling action last week. Tied for third place with 12 points each were Prince Laundry and Sportmen No. 1. Shelton Motors took a one-game edge over the Farmers (13) to lead the "A" loop while five other teams were only two games out of first place.

Docker's Dairy and the Princeton Motor Lodge maintained their perfect records after two weeks of bowling in the Women's Industrial League. Cifelli Electric and Nassau Service were tied for third place, two games behind the leaders. In the Women's League, Craft Cleaners and Cranbury Bank were on top with 14 points each, followed by Nassau Bontery (12) and Hits and Misses (10).

Howard McWhorter rolled the high individual game of the week with a 245 in the "B" loop. Other top scores included Frank Delnesco, 206; Ed Hoffman, 235; and Bill Bathie, 233, in the "B" League; Charles Perpetus, 218; Bob Soudrali, 212; Vince Gregg, 206; and Frank Goeke, 200, in the "A" loop; Betty Frazer, 196; Dot Moore, 181; and Louise Finelli, 180, in the Women's Industrial League; and Betty Cribberdy, 180, in the Women's League.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO LAY CORNERSTONE

For Lawrence Lutheran Church, will be held at 4 Sunday at the new Holy Trinity Lutheran Church at Princeton Pike and Adams St., Lawrence Township. The Rev. Herman J. Rippe, honorary president of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, will officiate.

The new building, when completed will have a nave seating 225, classrooms, fellowship hall, pastor's study, office, and a lower level unit designed for classrooms. It is hoped that the $130,000 building will be finished in late December. At present, the congregation is holding worship services at Lawrence Junior High School.

BULLETIN NOTES

Mrs. Stephen Vuglen, newcomer to Princeton who is a native of Yugoslavia, will speak on the subject "International Affairs—'Everybody's Affair'" before the Women's Guild of the Second Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 12 noon.

The luncheon is the first of a number of programs arranged in observance of the 15th anniversary of the United Nations this October. Mrs. Vuglen will speak from 12:10 to 12:30. She will answer questions from 12:30 until 12:45. Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling the church office, WA 4-2474.

The Woman's Society of Christ—The Service of the Church will meet next Monday at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the church to hear Leon L. Blackman, Hostesses will be the Web-Nystrom circle.
